Väljavõte Põltsamaa linnast

The figure consists of two parts. The main part is a large map of a rural area, likely Põltsamaa district, showing numerous small settlements (küla) and roads. Many place names are written in red text. A pink dashed line runs diagonally across the top left. The inset map, located in the top right corner, is titled 'Väljavõte Puurmani alevikust' and shows a detailed view of the Puurmani village area, which is highlighted in yellow. This inset map also features a pink dashed line and includes labels for 'Puurmani alevik' and several surrounding settlements.

This figure is a detailed map of a geographic area, likely a town or city, showing a complex overlay of different land parcels and administrative boundaries. The map features a grid-based street network. Overlaid on this are numerous colored polygons representing different land parcels or zones. These colors include red, purple, green, blue, yellow, and orange. Some parcels are solid-colored, while others have internal patterns or dashed borders. A prominent feature is a large, irregularly shaped parcel in the center-left, colored light green with a grid pattern, which appears to be a mix of different land types. Several roads are shown as black lines, some with dashed segments. One road in the center-right has a circular junction point. There are also several small, isolated parcels of land scattered throughout the map, often in red or purple. In the lower-left quadrant, there is a large, light-yellow parcel with a fine grid pattern. The overall image is a composite of multiple layers of geographical and administrative data.
